The Four-Leaved Clover.

Doris, in her gown of white,
Gaily dotted over
With tiny sprays of posies bright,
Hunts the four-leaved clover.

In the meadow, with the bees
All about her humming,
All impatient till she sees
If good luck is coming.

Doris, in her ruffled gown,
Hunting for the clover,
As she searches up and down,
Hums this ditty over:

"Three, let be! Five, let thrive!
Pass the six-leaf over!
But four-leaf pluck; it brings good luck,
Bonny four-leaved clover!"

A Double Wedding.

A double wedding ceremony of great interest to Richmond and out-of-town friends and relatives will be celebrated on the afternoon of June 28th, at 3 o'clock, in St. John's German Evangelical Lutheran Church, when Miss Marie Sophie Menzel will become the bride of Dr. Benjamin Lawrence Tallaferra, of No. 20 North Twenty-ninth Street, this city, and Miss Martha Emilie Menzel will be wedded to the Rev. Timothy Lehmann, of Baltimore, Md.

The father of the two brides and the pastor of St. John's Church, will perform the double ceremony, uniting the young couples.

The prospective brides and grooms are very popular young people. Dr. Tallaferra is a well known physician of this city, and the Rev. Mr. Lehmann is the pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church in Baltimore.

Light—Williams.

The marriage of Miss Mattie Leonard Williams, daughter of Mrs. J. S. Williams, and the late Dr. John Williams, of Gladys, Va., to Mr. W. A. Light, of Harrison, Tennessee, was celebrated at 8:30 o'clock, last evening in Wesleyburg Methodist Episcopal Church, at Gladys.

Owing to recent bereavement in Miss Williams' family, the ceremony was quiet and the wedding was not followed by a reception.

Mrs. Randolph's Report.

Mrs. N. V. Randolph, president of the Richmond Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, and chairman of Central Committee, Davis Monument Association, has forwarded to General Stephen D. Lee at Louisville, Ky., the following official report:

Richmond, June 8th.
General Stephen D. Lee, Commander United Confederate Veterans.
My dear General Lee:—With greetings to the United Confederate Veterans, I submit a report as chairman of the central committee of the Jefferson Davis Monument Association, United Daughters of the Confederacy.

At the Louisville reunion in 1901 I appeared before you with an appeal for funds to complete the monument to the one and only President of the Confederate States. To-day, unable to appear in person, I send this report to show that the trust you placed in us, in asking us to finish the work commenced by you, has been fulfilled, and the monument to Mr. Davis is an assured fact. The treasurer, Mrs. Edgar D. Taylor, reports sixty-nine thousand dollars in bank, drawing interest. Four hundred dollars, as reported by Forrest Camp, Chattanooga, funds collected for the Davis monument, one thousand pictures unsold, which will readily bring one thousand dollars, will complete the fund of $70,000.

The design has been selected, the site given by the city of Richmond, and the contract calling for the unveiling of this monument June 30, 1907, has been signed.

Veterans, many of our most prominent officials, many more of the veterans, who erected me and encouraged me at the last meeting in Louisville, have been called to answer "Here!" at the great reunion beyond, but steadfastly, faithfully has the central committee worked on, until to-day, I have the gratification to report to you. We were simply a ways and means committee, appointed by the president, Mrs. J. Thomas McCullough, to collect funds and to suggest to the directors of each State plans for raising money. Faithfully have these directors upheld us, and to-day our work is completed, and the women of the South stand ready to answer any other call you may give to honor the "Loved Cause" that the United Confederate Veterans represent.

Respectfully submitted,
JANET H. RANDOLPH,
U. D. C.

Reunion Entertainments.

The Louisville Courier-Journal of Wednesday morning, in referring to the many social features of the Confederate reunion, says:

General and Mrs. James Macgill, of Pataski, Va., are attending the Confederate reunion. Mrs. Macgill was formerly Miss Lucy Lee Hill, daughter of General A. P. Hill, and niece of General John Morgan and General Basil W. Duke. General and Mrs. Macgill are at the Galt House.

Mrs. T. J. Latham, of Memphis, Tenn., the Tennessee president of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and Miss Mary Harrison, of Columbus, Miss., the sister-in-law of General Stephen D. Lee, were the guests of honor at a handsome luncheon given yesterday at The Seelbach by Mrs. Richard Morgan.

The entertainment took place in one of the private dining-rooms, and the guests were seated at a beautifully appointed table.

In the center was a large flat basket of red and white sweet peas, and at each plate were bunches of crimson peas.

The table was lighted by individual candlesticks with red tapers and red and silver shades, and the place cards were tied with crimson ribbons.

The guests included Mesdames Andrew Broadbush, president of the Albert Sidney Johnston Chapter, U. D. C.; Sallie Marshall Hardy, State corresponding secretary; T. D. C. Oscar Turner, Leader, Norfolk; Pintard Lewis, Owen Thomas, Frank Parsons, Charles Rufer, Miss Mary Harrison and Mrs. Richard Morgan. Mrs. Henry Heuser, matron of honor for the whole South at the reunion, will be the hostess at a small luncheon to be given to-day in one of the private dining-rooms of the Louisville Hotel in honor of General Stephen D. Lee, of Columbus, Miss.

THE HERMIT.

By BEATTIE.

James Beattie was born at Laurencekirk, Scotland, in 1735; died August 15, 1803. He was educated at Aberdeen University, taught school, and was afterward professor in his old college.

"Philomela" is the nightingale. The meaning was fully explained in Matthew Arnold's poem of that name printed in this series some time ago.

At the close of the day, when the hamlet is still,
And mortals the sweets of forgetfulness prove,
When naught but the torrent is heard on the hill,
And naught but the nightingale's song in the grove,
'Twas thus by the cave of the mountain afar,
While his harp rung symphonious, a hermit began;
No more with himself or with nature at war,
He thought as a sage, though he felt as a man:

"Ah! why, all abandoned to darkness and woe,
Why, lone Philomela, that languishing fall?
For spring shall return, and a lover bestow,
And sorrow no longer thy bosom enthrall.
But, if pity inspire thee, renew the sad lay,—
Mourn, sweetest complainer, man calls thee to mourn!
O, soothe him whose pleasures like thine pass away;
Full quickly they pass,—but they never return.

"Now, gliding remote on the verge of the sky,
The moon, half extinguished, her crescent displays;
But lately I marked when majestic on high
She shone, and the planets were lost in her blaze.
Roll on, thou fair orb, and with gladness pursue
The path that conducts thee to splendor again!
But man's faded glory what change shall renew?
Ah, fool! to exult in a glory so vain!

"Tis night, and the landscape is lovely no more.
I mourn,—but, ye woodlands, I mourn not for you;
For morn is approaching your charms to restore,
Perfumed with fresh fragrance, and glittering with dew.
Nor yet for the ravage of winter I mourn,—
Kind nature the embryo blossom will save;
But when shall spring visit the mouldering urn?
O, when shall day dawn on the night of the grave?

"'Twas thus, by the glare of false science betrayed,
That leads to bewilder, and dazzles to blind,
My thoughts went to roam from shade onward to shade,
Destruction before me, and sorrow behind.
'O pity, great Father of light,' then I cried,
'Thy creature, who fain would not wander from thee!
Lo, humbled in dust, I relinquished my pride;
From doubt and from darkness thou only cast free.'

"And darkness and doubt are now flying away;
No longer I roam in conjecture forlorn.
So breaks on the traveller, faint and astray,
The bright and the balmy effulgence of morn.
See truth, love and mercy in triumph descending,
And nature all glowing in Eden's first bloom!
On the cold cheek of death smiles and roses are blending,
And beauty immortal awakes from the tomb."

This series began in The Times-Dispatch Sunday, October 11, 1903. One is published each day.

Water in the Daily Diet.

The important place that mineral waters are taking as a daily necessity is very noticeable. The consumption, although enormous, is constantly increasing. The bottling of waters at the various sources in Maine, New York, Wisconsin, Colorado, California and other States gives employment to many thousands of people. The industry in this country is of comparatively recent date and received its impetus from the success of Apollinaris water, which is bottled at a spring of that name in Germany. Apollinaris began to have a large sale in the United States thirty years ago, and to-day its name is a household word throughout the world. Another foreign water that has come into notice within the last few years is Apena, coming from distant Budapest, Hungary, a locality noted for its aperient water springs; and many other countries, among them Italy, France, Spain and Japan send well-known waters to the American market.

The Largest Excursion.

Perhaps the largest excursion of the season will be that of the Richmond and Norfolk Works employees to West Point next Saturday, June 17th. For the past three years this excursion party has gone to Buckroe Beach on the Chesapeake and Ohio. This year they will take the Southern for Beach Park. It is likely that some two thousand or more persons will go down. The usual elaborate programme of athletic sports, humorous contests and competitions of all sorts has been arranged. It is expected that the Governor will make the trip down.
